It begins here. Elevate will bring together a community of like-minded professionals with great ideas who are committed to improving mental healthcare. The powerful lineup on Day 1 will provide you with the necessary tools and understanding to overcome both diagnostic and treatment challenges commonly faced by providers of mental healthcare. Faculty experts will focus on translating the latest research findings into practical application resulting in positive clinical applications in your practice. Topics explored will include Major Depressive Disorder, Substance Use Disorder, Schizophrenia, and more.

Day 2 offers attendees opportunities to move forward on their career path. Elevate is an educational experience that not only focuses on what you know, but who you know. On Day 2, you will be connected with a mentor, a leader in the field who gets your story and who can share insight and guidance. We know it’s important to have someone to turn to who can answer those “how-to,” “what-if,” “keeping you up at night” questions.

Day 3 begins with an “Aha” presentation by Thomas R. Insel, MD, on the future of mental healthcare. This is followed by our slate of top faculty, singular minds who will delve into emerging clinical research, tools and technology, and explore their ability to revolutionize mental health. This is where groundbreaking ideas take root — where the potential becomes the possible. You will leave Elevate equipped to take on new opportunities and new challenges, and prepared to make your mark.
